

AUDITION NOITCE

CenterStage North proudly presents the MUSICAL comedy for the holidays “A Country Christmas Carol”
Book by Ron Kaehler. Music by Albert Evans. Lyrics by Albert Evans and Ron Kaehler
Set in Marley, Texas to be directed by Sarah Mitchell

Saturday October 2nd 2010 1 – 5pm

The Art Place – Mountain View
3330 Sandy Plains Road, Marietta, GA, 30066
Cold reading from the script.

Seasons greetings from Marley County, U.S.A., where folks don't have a whole lot, but where everybody's doing what they can to make the Christmas holiday crackle. Except for one mean and miserly old coot that somehow misses the whole point. Ring a bell? It's Dickens' classic, dusted off and gussied up in a new country-western musical version. A Country Christmas Carol is ideal family holiday fare fresh, engaging, often hilarious, and genuinely moving. It's a timeless tale of redemption and reunion, community and family, the kind of story that was made for country music. The score would make Patsy Cline proud, with show stopping ballads to snappy two-steps, sung by a feisty bunch who deal head-on with life's joys and heartaches. All the characters are here with some nifty variations: Banker Scrooge, the man with the worst case of Christmas blues ever; his secretary Bobbie Jo Cratchit, a young widow with two small children, Jane and Tim; his lovable ne'er-do-well nephew Dwight; Lavinia, a good-ol'-girl with big hair and an even bigger heart; plus some decidedly Country Christmas spirits. This is a down-home pleasure from start to finish.

Performance dates are
Friday 10th December at 8pm
Saturday 11th December an abridged version at 10am then 8pm
Sunday 12th December at 2pm
Thursday 16th December at 8pm
Friday 17th December at 8pm
Saturday 18th December at 8pm
Sunday 19th December at 2pm

More details of characters and full rehearsal schedule on website www.centerstagenorth.org